

MARTIN INTRODUCES BILL FOR MONUMENT

Asks That Memorial to Marshall Be Placed in New Federal Building.

IT IS SENATOR'S BUSY DAY

He Presents More Than Score of Important Measures for Action.

Washington, April 25.—Senator Thomas S. Martin, of Virginia, introduced more than a score of important bills in the Senate yesterday, among them being one appropriating the sum of $15,000 for a monument to Chief Justice John Marshall, to be placed in the new Federal Courthouse at Richmond, and a further sum of $25,000 for a statue of General William Campbell, leader of the Virginia forces at the battle of King's Mountain. This second statue is to be located at Abingdon.

Another of Senator Martin's measures authorized appropriation of $50,000 for a monument in Washington to Matthew Fontaine Maury, "father of the sea" and eminent Virginia scientist.

Still another appropriates $100,000 for preliminary work in nationalizing as a great military park the famous battlefields of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Spotsylvania Courthouse, Gettysburg and the Wilderness, all on Virginia soil, and all of them world-renowned. It is Senator Martin's idea that these battlefields should be merged into one great national park.

He also offered a bill appropriating $20,000 for the improvement of the government roadway from the railway station at Fredericksburg to the national park, near that city.

The Virginia senator also wants the government to make a settlement with the estate of General George Washington in the long-enduring controversy over the lands granted in Ohio to the first President.

Yet another bill provided for the building of a breakwater at Lynnhaven Bay for the use of the Lynnhaven Terminal Company, a corporation organized to develop this Virginia port as a deep sea harbor.

An appropriation of $5,000 is asked for by Senator Martin for the erection on Jamestown Island, in Virginia, of a monument to the Indian Princess Pocahontas. A sum of $2,000 is wanted in a separate bill for the erection of an iron fence around the old Jamestown church ruins.

A monument is proposed in an additional bill to Peyton Randolph, an early Virginia statesman. This is to be erected on the campus of William and Mary College, Williamsburg, if the $15,000 asked for is granted.

He also introduced a bill presenting the claim of Maryland and Virginia against the government for money advanced to the infant republic for the erection of capital buildings.

This claim, $32,000 of which is held by Maryland and $125,000 by Virginia, was the cause of the most spectacular deadlock in Congress that the Capitol has known for a generation. It resulted a year ago in delaying the adjournment of the House and Senate for more than a week after the date set for joint resolution.

At the time the Maryland and Virginia Senators were compelled to yield to the opposition of the House, but they served notice then and there that the fight would be resumed in the beginning of the next Congress, and pressed until the rights of the two States were recognized. This money was loaned to the general government by the States when the District of Columbia was founded. The opposition has always contended that it was a gift and not a loan.

While he was at it, Senator Martin offered a bill providing pensions for life-savers and fixing a rate of pay for their retirement.

STARNES IS HONORED

Given Luncheon by Board of Trade of Danvers—Makes Addresses.

Two addresses were made Wednesday by E. A. Starnes, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, at Danvers, Mass., where he was invited by the Board of Trade of the Southern Sociological Congress in Atlanta. He was the honored guest of the Board of Trade of Danvers, which gave a luncheon at which the local citizens were present. J. H. Montgomery, acting as toastmaster.

Responding to an invitation, Mr. Starnes called particular attention to the problem of child labor in Virginia. He discussed education of the child, and the child labor problem. He said that the child labor problem was a national one, and that it was one that the States must face. He said that the child labor problem was a national one, and that it was one that the States must face.

BARACA DINNER

Mayor, Civic, H. C. Stuart and Others Speak at Broad Street Methodist.

Speeches by Henry C. Stuart, Mayor George Ainslie and Richard E. Byrd were the principal features at the annual dinner of the Baraca Club of the Broad Street Methodist Church last night in the Sunday School room. Letters regretting absence from the dinner were read from President Woodrow Wilson and other persons who were invited. A number of women were invited to attend. Courtney, toastmaster, called upon the speakers to respond to the following toasts: Mayor Ainslie, "Richmond"; Henry C. Stuart, "The Sunday School"; Richard E. Byrd, "The President of the United States"; J. R. Kline, "Our Class"; W. A. Reese, "Welcome."

invited them to meet here instead of in New York or Washington, as is usually the case. The Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac meeting was held at 10:15 and the Washington Southern at 10:30 A. M. I was glad to have an opportunity of showing the visitors over the city and pointing out to them something of its progress and growth. It would hardly be fair to say that we were inspecting station after station. We went to Church Hill and heard the custodian of St. John's tell about Patrick Henry. We took a view of the city from Chimborazo Park, went out Monument Avenue and down Broad Street. It was my desire to show them the growth of Richmond and the outlook for future development here, and I availed myself of the opportunity to invite to meet them some representative citizens. It was a happy blending of social features with a formal meeting of a board of railway directors. The visiting railroad men were greatly impressed with the growth and evidences of business enterprise and prosperity in Richmond.

Working on Station Plans. At a recent meeting of the Council Committee on Streets, when the question was raised about the removal of steam railway tracks from West Broad Street, President White stated that within thirty days he hoped to be able to make a definite statement about plans for a new station. From his remarks at that time it was inferred that he had in mind a great city terminal costing not less than $1,000,000, adapted in location, size and character of construction for the needs of a great railway system for fully fifty years to come. It was suggested at that time that the new station would be located on West Broad Street, either at the site of the old baseball park or on the grounds of the Hermitage Golf Club, which would afford more ample space, and that by having the through trains to the South back out and use the Belt Line tracks all in present train in Broad and Belvidere Streets could be removed.

Since that meeting the City Attorney has furnished the Committee on Streets with a report to the effect that while the railroad has a perpetual franchise to operate in Broad Street and the connection company similar perpetual rights in Belvidere Street, the City Council, in the exercise of the police power, may regulate the manner of construction and of operation, and may, therefore, direct that the tracks be placed either underground or overhead. The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the South Bend case is said fully to uphold this view of the police power of cities, and gives the Council full control of the situation.

Wants Union Depot. More recently the Board of Aldermen adopted a resolution, offered by Mr. White, providing for appointment of a special committee to investigate the feasibility of a union passenger station for all railroads entering Richmond. The common Council has not yet acted on this resolution, which would have the effect of taking the matter out of the hands of the Street Committee.

At the meeting referred to, Mr. White said that he greatly hoped that the Council would not urge a downtown union station—that the trend of the city was westward, more at Byrd Street Station—and if there were to be a union station, he would greatly prefer that it be erected in line with the future growth of the city and at a point where ample area could be secured and where adequate street car transportation, with provision for storage and banking of cars could be arranged; together with the necessary provisions for storing, cleaning and repairing passenger coaches, Pullmans and dining-cars—in fact all the provisions of a modern and complete railroad passenger terminal.

Ruffner Is Beaten. The second championship game in basketball was played Thursday between Ruffner and Madison Schools. Ruffner, Madison, 30; Ruffner, 16. Madison has challenged Barton Heights to a game next week. Both games between classes are played at Madison School.

Madison Line-up: Forwards—Mary Blakey, captain, Nellie Phillips, Guards—Lillian Harris, Pauline Kelly, Centre—Antoinette Ellison. Ruffner line-up: Forwards—Ida Ruff, Irene Baughn, Guards—Louise Ruth, Ruby Vermillion, Centre—Julia Searcy, captain.

The field meet to be held at Madison Golf Garden is scheduled for late in May.

MISSING FROM HIS HOME SINCE WEDNESDAY MORNING

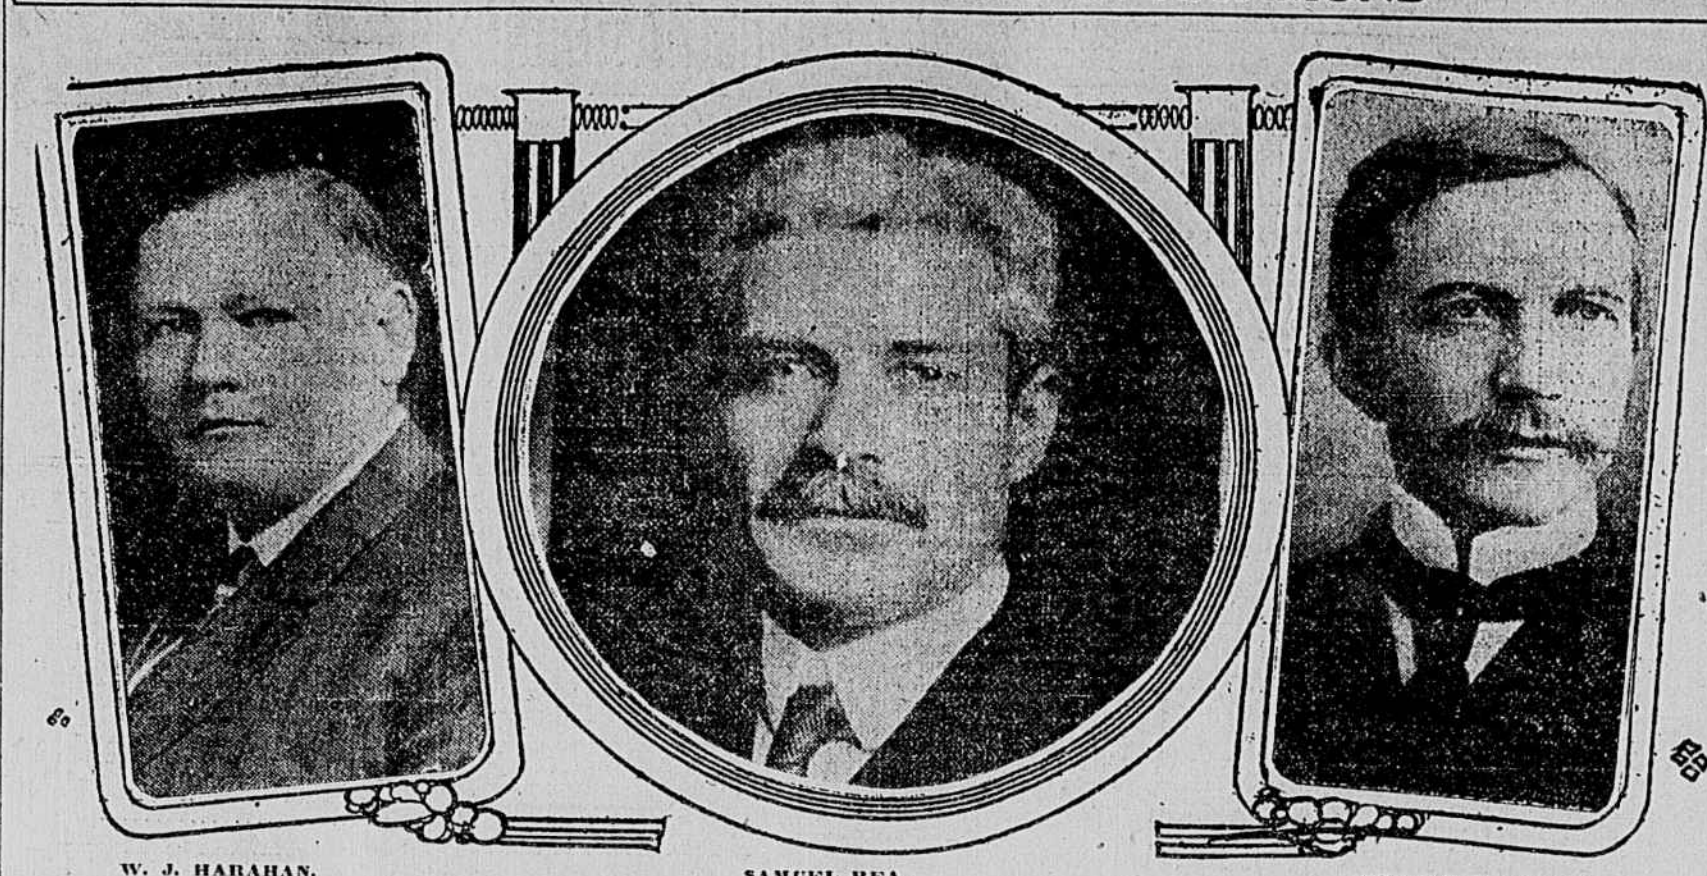

The police yesterday were asked to look for a boy, Price, twenty-eight years old, of 1101 Riddell Street, who has been missing from his home since Wednesday morning. Relatives have been unable to give any reason for his absence. His domestic relations were said to have been happy, and the theory was advanced that he had become temporarily mentally unbalanced.

The authorities of nearby cities have been asked to look for him.

Colored Woman Stabbed. Lillie Harris, colored, was stabbed in the shoulder last night shortly after 9 o'clock, at her home, 195 Pullman Street, by a colored woman, said by Dr. H. T. Haskins, City Hospital, the arrest of the Randolph woman was sworn out.

Mr. Pillow Recovering. N. A. Pillow, who operated on at the Memorial Hospital April 19, is reported to be steadily regaining his strength.

WILLIAMSBURG FAIR VERY GREAT SUCCESS

Exhibitions Made by Schools in Peninsula Attract Several Thousand Visitors.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Williamsburg, Va., April 25.—A crowd variously estimated at from 2,000 to 3,000 winners, several hundred in number, gathered at the annual Peninsula School Fair, which was held at Williams and Mary College to-day. The weather was ideal for such an occasion, and the little city was full of life and color from an early hour till late afternoon. The feature of the fair were the large attendance of school children and parents, the exhibits of the various schools and the parade.

The day opened with a ball game between the Williams and Mary College and Academy teams, which resulted in a victory for the former. The prize winners, several hundred in number, were announced, after which adjournment was taken for dinner.

The parade, which formed on court green at 1:30 o'clock, was led by the Newport News City Band, marched up Duke of Gloucester Street to Cary Field, each school, with pennants and banners flying, receiving the applause of the admiring throngs.

Professor G. O. Ferguson, of the college faculty, then introduced Robert L. Spencer, who, representing Mayor E. W. Warburton, welcomed the visitors to Williamsburg. Dr. J. L. Hall, professor of English in Williams and Mary, made the address of welcome for the college. W. B. Coggin, superintendent of schools for James City, Charles City and Stafford, then introduced the chief speaker of the occasion, Dr. Joseph D. Eggleston, president-elect of the V. P. I. Dr. Eggleston was received with flattering applause, and his references to progressive education, which he had been the recognized leader, were loudly approved by the audience.

The day's exercises closed with an athletic contest between the several schools. The final act of the fair was the declamation contest in the chapel of Williams and Mary to-night.

The complete success, which surpassed the hopes of the most sanguine, of the first Peninsula School Fair, made it a permanent affair, and already another is spoken of for next year.

Among the visitors here to-day were numerous educators and pupils from the various schools of the Peninsula, and near-by places, who were deeply impressed with the enthusiasm manifested on all sides. The most impressive feature of the exhibits, over 750 in number, which were pronounced exceedingly well executed. Over $250 in prize money was awarded to the winners, who are well distributed over the three offices of the Hastings Court, the Third Congressional District, and the city of Williamsburg. Dr. H. E. Bennett, superintendent, William and Mary, was chairman, and much of the success of the fair is due to his untiring labors.

The Third Congressional District Teachers' Conference will convene at Williams and Mary College to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock, and will continue throughout the day, the afternoon session beginning at 2 o'clock. The exercises will be held in the college chapel. A number of the teachers, who will take part in to-morrow's conference, were here to-day to attend the school fair.

Marriage Licenses. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday in the clerk's office of the Hastings Court as follows: William P. Lee and Florence Redford; Alex P. Grice and Louise Brown Crenshaw.

Goes to Grand Jury. Henry Davis, colored, was called for the grand jury yesterday morning in Police Court on the charge of entering the home of W. H. Good, 200 West Main Street, and stealing clothing from L. Page and John Gooden.

Mary Booker, colored, was fined $10 and costs for refusing to move her seat on a Main Street car when ordered to do so by the conductor.

Verdict for Defendant. In the case of E. F. Poindexter against R. H. Wilson, appealed from the Court of the City Justice, verdict and judgment were entered yesterday in the Law and Equity Court for the defendant.

SURRENDERS TO POLICE

Youth Facing Charge of Highway Robbery Walks Into Station House.

Bernard Myers, twenty years old, walked into the First Police Station last night and asked if there was a warrant for him. There was, and he was charged with highway robbery. According to the warrant, he assaulted and robbed Fred Romer of 50 cents.

The warrant was issued several days ago, and in it "Speck" Snyder was jointly accused with Myers. The former was arrested, and when tried before Justice Crutchfield the charge was changed to petit larceny, and he was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail.

Both Myers and Snyder are said to be deserters from the United States Navy.

FRIENDS NOT ENCOURAGING

After 20 Years Illness, Friends of Mrs. Bowen Thought She Could Not Recover

Arriets, Va.—"For 20 years I suffered with womanly trouble," says Mrs. D. J. Bowen, of this place, "and although I tried different treatments, I did not get any relief.

I was unable to look after any of my work, and my friends thought I could not get well.

Finally, I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I hadn't taken one-third of the first bottle before I could notice its good effects.

Now I can do all my work, feel like I'm not more than 16 years old, but am really 49. My friends say I look so well they hardly know me when they meet me in the road.

My daughter is using Cardui now, and she says it is a fine medicine. I also have a number of lady friends who are taking it, since they found out how it helped me.

Whenever I feel a little fatigued after a day's work I just take a dose of Cardui, and am all right.

I can't say too much for Cardui. No matter how long-standing the trouble, Cardui is almost sure to help you. It is a tonic remedy. It is prepared for women, to bring relief from womanly ailments.

You can rely on Cardui. It will do for you what it has done for thousands of others. It will help you. Begin to take Cardui to-day.

CANNOT 'TOTE' GUN ON OWN PREMISES

Judge Scott, in Henrico Circuit Court, Rules Against Carrying Concealed Weapons.

That the law will not countenance the carrying of concealed weapons even by a man in his own home or on his own property was the substance of a ruling made yesterday afternoon by Judge R. Carter Scott, of Henrico Circuit Court, in the appealed case of William Redd, colored. Under the instructions of the court, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and assessed Redd the minimum fine fixed by law—$20 and costs.

Redd, who is the proprietor of a dance hall in lower Henrico, was arrested several months ago for engaging in a shooting scrape, in which Reuben Miles, colored, was dangerously wounded. The affair occurred on Redd's premises during the progress of a dance.

In the magisterial court, the man was convicted and given a road sentence. On appeal to the upper court, he was acquitted on a plea of self-defense. It was shown by the evidence of several witnesses that Miles was the aggressor, and that Redd was forced to shoot to protect his life. The additional charge of carrying concealed weapons was continued in order that another jury could hear the case.

Redd admitted having the revolver in the side pocket of his trousers, and demonstrated for the benefit of the jury the manner in which it was carried. Although the handle protruded from the pocket, the weapon was concealed by the coat. With the instructions of Judge Scott, the jury had no other course than to return a verdict of guilty.

Remarkable Christmas Present

Among the curious Christmas presents of this year will be one from a man of national reputation, which has been all year in the making.

Early last January the present was decided upon by one of the most prominent gentlemen requested by the Press Clipping Bureau, of New York, to watch every paper in America and to take up every item which appeared concerning the man.

The clipping bureau people followed instructions, and now present the history of one year in the life of this special man.

The history ends just after election, and the 20,642 newspaper items found include everything from a three-line editorial mention to full-page illustrations. These have been mounted on 3,200 great sheets of Irish linen paper and bound into three massive volumes.

At the head of each item is the name and date of paper clipped from, this information having been put in with a book typewriter. The words thus inserted amount to 153,252.

In actual time, a strict record of which has been kept, the work has required sixty-four working days throughout the year, and has kept in employment during that time twenty people as readers, clippers, sorters, mounters and binders. Every newspaper of importance is represented.

This is merely a specimen of some of the unique orders which get into the Burrelle Bureau, for the extent to which clippings are used by individuals and by business concerns seems to be remarkable.

There are many people in private as well as in public life who need press clippings and don't know it. It might be well for them to look up this man Burrelle, who is said to be so well known that a letter simply addressed "Burrelle, New York," will reach him with no delay. (Advertisement.)
